The striking highlight of the olive green is light ebony rectangular prints which fill the saree from down up. The red seams add its contrast to the otherwise playboy of the saree giving it a nice touch to it.

A decorative frame containing two images of the same woman in the same pink and gold saree. The top image shows her from the waist up, and the bottom image shows her from the waist down. The frame is decorated with a vertical line of text on the left side and a small floral ornament in the top right corner. Below the images is a descriptive paragraph and the number 1385.
