Though designated as Indian tradition, hand of the year this award really belongs to every craftsmanship who - in dedicating a lifetime to their craft, and creating beautiful, exquisite sarees - both preserve and promote our rich, artisanal traditions.

"More important to me than anything else is the notion of economic and social empowerment. that is why they strive to leverage the power and privilege that their position grants them and use it to create a more sustainable, robust ecosystem for craftpeople. An ecosystem where karigars, with their unique skillsets, not only survive, but are also

A woman is the central focus, wearing a vibrant pink saree with a subtle pattern and gold borders. She has a silver headpiece with intricate designs and a nose ring. She is holding a large, white lotus flower. The background is a soft, warm-toned wall with hanging white beaded garlands and lotus buds. In the top right corner, there is a logo for 'triveni sarees' with the tagline 'GRACE DIGNITY IDENTITY' and 'Cotton Printed Collection'.
