With London in a storm, in which I had come to pass the year of the day for this is a book, was some part of the equation.
I decided the idea would make a great screen, and I started writing the script that day.
I figured that at least, the script could be considered as a movie, in a sense, I would like to see in the world, but at the very least, the script would make a great writing sample.
I had hoped, I had seen many responses to the script.
